Roosevelt Declares NRA Decision Of Grave Import

TELLS PRESS NATION MUST MEET CRISIS

Claims Government Deprived of Its Control Over National Problems

WASHINGTON, May 31.—(UP)—The NRA decision by the supreme court deprived of national social and economic conditions and relegates the constitution back to the horse and buggy days, President Roosevelt said today.

Speaking steadily for an hour to 200 newspapermen, the president said the decision was the most important handed down by the court since the famous Dred Scott decision of pre-civil war days.

The implication of the decision, if carried to the logical conclusion, will strip the United States government of many of its powers, the president said.

Mr. Roosevelt, in measured words, said the nation was facing a very great national and non-partisan issue, and the people must decide within the next five or ten years if they want to relegate to the 48 states all control of state and national economic and social conditions regardless of the effect of the ruling of one state or another, or restore to the federal government the powers which are vested in national governments of every other nation—the right to legislate or administer laws that have bearing on or control over national economic problems or national social problems.

Issues Warning

This issue, Mr. Roosevelt warned, must be decided. The implications of the court's decision in interpreting the interstate commerce clause of the constitution were by far the most important part of the decision, the president said.

Its implication that mining, manufacturing and farming are intra-state functions can result, the president said, in 36-cent wheat and five-cent cotton, among other things.

The whole tendency in reviewing the interstate commerce clause, he

Open Banks In Paris As Crisis Near

Bouisson Seeking to Form New Cabinet to Succeed M. Flandin

(Copyright, 1935, by United Press.) PARIS, May 31.—(UP)—Fernand Bouisson, president of the chamber of deputies, sought today to form a cabinet and prevent a grave financial crisis.

As he did so, banks throughout France opened and business was resumed as usual.

After consultation among the ministry of finance, the regents of the Bank of France and the prefect of police, it was decided to open the exchanges. The franc maintained its recent level with the American dollar at the opening. The quotation for the dollar was 15.19 francs (6.583 cents a franc).

Outside the bank of France three soldier sentries with fixed bayonets patrolled the streets. When the bank opened there were 15 men waiting to withdraw gold. That there were not more was a factor which led to the decision to open exchanges.

Three automobiles stood in the bank courtyard being loaded with gold destined for the flying field at Le Bourget, to be flown to London, and for Cherbourg and Le Havre, to go to New York by liner.

A big movement of gold was expected after the Ascension day bank holiday yesterday, to add to the 7,000,000,000 francs ($400,810,000) that has gone from the country since May 17, to leave the Bank of France's bullion stocks at an estimated 72,000,000,000 to 73,000,000,000, the lowest since February 1932 and against the high of $3,359,000,000 December 2, 1932.

CAPISTRANO SCHOOL BOARD ASKS VIERLING KERSEY TO INVESTIGATE CONDITIONS

THE UNDERCURRENT of dissension felt in San Juan Capistrano school circles was given open expression at last night's meeting of the high school board, when it was decided to ask State Superintendent of Schools Vierling Kersey to make an investigation of the school situation there.

The decision was reached on a motion by Carl Hankey, seconded by Dr. Paul Esslinger. Following a discussion of the matter, however, it was felt by board members that it was unlikely that Kersey would make the investigation. Members are said to have stated that the matter could be "cleared up at home," without intervention of state officials.

The rumored resignation of John Lillard, teacher of agriculture in the high school, who was said to have received a promise of another position, was not presented. Dr. Esslinger, clerk of the board said, it was decided to appoint teachers to fill vacancies created on the faculty on June 10. The positions of teacher of English and of Commerce will be filled. Six applicants for each position will be interviewed by the board as a body this year.

KIDNAPING IS 24 MILLIONS HELD WORK OF ARE ADDED TO HARDENED GANG STATE BUDGET

TACOMA, Wash., May 31.—(UP)—Kidnaping a week ago of George Weyerhaeuser, nine-year-old son of a lumber millionaire, today appeared to be the work of the remnants of a hardened gang of killers and abductors.

Since the original ransom demand of $200,000 was sent the parents, Mr. and Mrs. John P. Weyerhaeuser, a few hours after the child was picked up along a street, no word is known to have been received.

The note, signed "egoist" is now believed the work of a gang, probably headed by Alvin Karpis, rather than that of a single individual.

Full Day of Pleasure For Several Hundred Children, Men and Women

HUNDREDS of residents of Orange county received a reward far exceeding the little time spent in pleasant work obtaining subscriptions to the Santa Ana Register, when they were guests of The Register today at the great California - Pacific International Exposition in San Diego.

It was a happy crowd which gathered at the Santa Fe depot here this morning to board the special Register train which left to take hundreds of men, women and children on a glorious holiday at the Exposition. A holiday spirit was evident as the Register guests boarded the train for the southern city.

The Register train left promptly at 7 o'clock this morning, filled to capacity with a happy throng of Orange county people. Two other trains followed the Register train, filled with residents of the northern part of the county.

Today is Orange County School Day at the Exposition, and the special trains which followed the Register train were filled mostly with school children. Members of the Orange County Student Orchestra and other juvenile artists from Orange county who were to give special Orange county program at the Exposition were included in the crowd which jammed the trains.

There were 19 cars in the Register train. All Register carriers were on the train, and their places today will be taken by trained substitutes. The Register train will not leave the Exposition until 9 o'clock or later tonight, while the other trains will return earlier.

The Orange County Student Orchestra, directed by W. G. Axworthy, was to be featured in a

ENTIRE CITY OF 17,000 PERSONS DEMOLISHED IN INDIA; NATIVES BURIED

British and Indian Troops Labor feverishly to Extricate Thousands Trapped In Ruins of Homes

KARACHI, India, May 31.—(UP)—A devastating earthquake demolished the Quetta region in the northwest frontier today, burying thousands of natives and Europeans in the ruins of a once prosperous city and countryside. Unofficial estimates placed the casualties at probably 20,000, with 44 Europeans of the British Royal Air Force known dead and 20 or 30 others missing. It will be a long and difficult task to determine the number accurately, however, since most of the victims lie under the debris.

British and Indian troops toiled feverishly, extricating thousands of dead and injured from the ruins of the vanished city of 17,000 inhabitants.

District in Ruins

The fertile and beautiful district, in the plains 5500 feet above sea level and ringed by mountains, was a scene of utter destruction.

Camps for the injured and destitute were established on the race course and at the British residency.

The greatest loss of life occurred in the native quarter of the city where the teeming population was trapped in the ruins of flimsy, shattered houses. The rescue work was impeded by constantly collapsing walls.

The dead it was officially announced, included 14 white members of the Royal Air Force. Despite the number of air force casualties, the military station, which is some distance from Quetta City, was not demolished. The extensive, world-famous fruit gardens surrounding Quetta were reported destroyed.

Rescuers Busy

The congested native section of Quetta was described as a "slambrook". Military forces worked under the greatest difficulty in rescue work because of the constant collapse of the unstable structures of the city.

Quetta is the capital of the district of the same name and of British Baluchistan. Its population is about 17,100 and that of the district is 48,000.

As the southernmost of the line of fortifications and posts in the

BULLETIN

CHEYENNE, Wyo., May 31.—(UP)—Six persons were dead as the result of a terrific flood which swept down Big Bear creek, 30 miles north of here, early today.

Four of the dead were identified. They were: Dr. F. W. Phifer, of Wheatland, Wyo.

Wood Phifer, his son. Mrs. F. W. Phifer, his wife. George Garnett, 23, a truck driver from Cheyenne.

FLOODS which rose in the eastern slopes of the Colorado Rocky mountains today had laid waste a wide area, damaged cities and towns to the extent of millions, and taken an undetermined death toll.

Heavy rains which were climaxed by cloudbursts started the rising waters. Water tore down creek beds, broke over banks and swept beyond control. A wall of water 15 feet high hit Colorado Springs, tore its way through the famous

THEY'RE OFF TO FAIR — GUESTS OF THE REGISTER

Graphically portraying the marked success of The Register's idea of sending readers to the great California-Pacific International Exposition at San Diego, the picture above was taken just before 7 o'clock this morning as hundreds of persons boarded the special Register train, which left promptly at 7 o'clock as scheduled. It was a gala occasion for hundreds of persons, many of whom probably would not have been able to afford such a complete tour of the Exposition had not the Santa Ana Register come forward with the plan which gave unusual opportunity for anyone to attend the Exposition in return for a little pleasant work spent in getting four friends to subscribe for the Register for two months. How enthusiastically residents of Santa Ana and Orange county responded to the plan is shown in the picture above. There were 10 cars in the Register train, filled with a crowd of men, women and children who looked forward to enjoying substitutes. Members of the Orange County Student Orchestra, directed by W. G. Axworthy, were on the train, as well as Betty Jean Koster, Katherine Hambricht and Alice Imamoto, talented juvenile artists who were to appear with the orchestra in specialty numbers, one of the most glorious days of their lives. Register carrier boys also were aboard the train, their places being taken today by trained Today is Orange County School Day at the Exposition, and two other special trains followed the Register train to San Diego.

and agricultural pro-rate commission.

There was no organized opposition to the bill in the senate, and the increases were expected to be approved also by the assembly, where the budget bill originally encountered a deadlock.

Inclusion of $24,000,000 for unemployment relief was not considered a budget item when Gov. Frank F. Merriam submitted his appropriations recommendations to the legislature. Relief funds were to have been handled in a separate bill. There has been considerable agitation lately, however, to make relief funds a part of the budget.

The $20,000,000 will handle the state's share of the relief load for only one year, necessitating a special session next January to provide funds for the second half of the biennium.

Members of the senate finance group also approved a bill to appropriate $30,000 for financing an investigation to determine the feasibility of state acquisition of power companies.

resort, and headed southeast, gradually losing its force.

From another section, Cherry creek which has been a scourge to the southeast shortly after midnight.

Pueblo, 42 miles south of Colorado Springs, escaped serious damage. The waters rushed down Fountain river but had lost much of their force when they reached Pueblo, where in 1921 floods took a toll of 80 lives.

Small towns between Colorado

Spring and Pueblo were reported hard hit, however, but damaged communication lines made a close check impossible. Kiowa and Elbert, northeast of the springs, reported that they were hard hit just before telephone lines went down. Palmer lake, Eastonville and Monument also were cut off. Along the South Platte, in the northern part of the state, there were flood reports, but damage was not yet serious. Sterling and Greeley both reported the Platte rising dangerously.

The flood subsided almost as quickly as it came in Colorado Springs, and work of aiding those whose homes were washed away or wrecked was started. Hundreds of holiday visitors were stranded, for all highways were impassable because of washed out bridges and no trains moved. It was estimated at least 48 hours would elapse before highways and rail lines were safe for traffic.

SENATE PASSES TIDELAND OIL DRILLING BILL

the state to grant leases to oil companies to tap tideland pools by means of slant drilling from upland locations. A minimum royalty of 16 2-3 per cent would be demanded as the state's share.

Proponents admitted the act would give the Standard Oil company a virtual monopoly on an undeveloped portion of a rich pool of Huntington Beach, because the company owns or leases all the available littoral land adjoining the beach.

"It is unfortunate that the Standard Oil company happens to own these lands," said Senator Edgar W. Stow, Santa Barbara, supporter of the bill, "because of that, opponents attempt to cast certain reflections on the intent of this regulation."

Whistocking, it was pointed out, would permit oil wells to be sunk without endangering the beauty of beaches, because derricks could be erected on upland locations and the wells slanted under the beaches to the tideland pools. This practice has been followed by oil drillers on a section of the Huntington Beach field, and the state is collecting royalty from oil obtained there.

northwest frontier it has become an important strategic center. It lies in the fertile valley 5,500 feet above sea level and is ringed by hills rising to 11,000 feet. It is the seat of the Indian staff college. There is important trade in the town, a center for traders of Western Afghanistan, Eastern Persia and a large portion of Central Asia.

Prize Station
The station, set high in the beautiful and beautiful hill country, is one of the prize stations of India. Newspaper and telegraph offices here were besieged by fearful inquirers after news. Quetta is the Holiday Hill station for Karachi, and is frequented by British military and civilian servants of all ranks.

Direct communications are non-existent. There is no way of getting any news from Quetta except fragmentary reports being picked up from the official radio, which is confining itself to essential messages concerning relief, and is not carrying general news.

Early fears of starvation were banished when it was found that the food supplies are adequate for the present and the railroads and highways are still passable.

After an urgent radio call for relief from Sir Norman Cator, agent for Beluchistan, to the governor general, relief trains started from the provincial capitals for Quetta, which is the center of a strategic network of railways in the frontier country.

Relief Parties
One train left Karachi at 5 p. m. with doctors and nurses—many of them volunteers—medical supplies and railroad telegraph repair gangs. The military and the royal air force also sent relief parties.

A railroad official who came by rail-motor from Quetta to Spezand reported that the railroad headquarters at Quetta had been devastated and that many of the railroad personnel were killed.

The government of India announced that 20 to 30 members of the royal air force at Quetta were reported missing, in addition to the 44 killed.

said, has been to view it in the light of present day civilization, but with one swoop the court has put it back to the days of 1787 when it first was written to prevent tariff wars.

The president said he was impressed by the rather pathetic appeals of the country for him to do something, adding that telegrams and messages that have poured in show a sincere faith in government.

They are so sincere, he averred, that the country is realizing something has to be done in the long run.

A stack of messages was before him. Mr. Roosevelt read from them at random, carefully pointing out that the implications of the supreme court decision have not yet registered on the minds of American business.

Offer Suggestions
Some messages offered suggestions by which the senators believed the government could circumvent the decision. But as Mr. Roosevelt explained, most of the suggestions run afoul of the language of the ruling.

The president asked what are the decisions' implications? They are much more important, he said, than those any other case in his life—far more important than any in peacetime since the Dred Scott case, and bring up to the country practical questions for solution.

One can deplore the supreme court decision, he remarked, and point out its seriousness and its defects, but the results depend on what future decision will follow this one.

He read extracts from the ruling in the Schechter case, dwelling emphatically on that sentence which contained the words that "extraordinary conditions do not create or enlarge constitutional power."

He recalled legislation passed during war days and remarked that because of the war that legislation never came before the court. A great deal of it, he said, was more violative than any passed in 1932, giving to the executive far greater powers than any of the recovery laws.

The ruling on delegation of power, Mr. Roosevelt regarded as not insurmountable. The most important, he said, was that part of the decision dealing with the Interstate Commerce clause.

In effect, he remarked, the supreme court by dictum has gone back to the old Knight case of 1885 which limited application of the interstate commerce clause to goods in transit.

Enlarges Definition
He added that since 1885, however, the court had enlarged its definitions of the clause. He said that it clearly was the opinion of congress before the decision that the words interstate commerce applied not only to shipment of goods, but in many cases to matters that affected interstate commerce.

Mr. Roosevelt cited a case in New York involving an application for abandonment of a feeder line of the Long Island railroad.

Reviewing the situation from the early writing of the clause, Mr. Roosevelt remarked that the whole picture now was a different one. Since the time of transportation, he said, we have developed a different philosophy. Now the prosperity of the farmer affects the merchant in Pittsburgh and the merchant's condition in Wisconsin likewise affects the farmer. Every party of the country is interdependent, he remarked.

We have now gone back, he said, for the supreme court no longer permits federal jurisprudence over anything affecting interstate commerce and apparently now only permits jurisdiction over goods in transit.

The president then addresses this question to the group: Are we going to take from the United States government its supervision as to national crops, and go back to the days when the farmer was lord on his own farm, and grew what he liked regardless of crop conditions elsewhere?

Will Rogers Says:

(SANTA MONICA, May 31.—(To the Editor of The Register:))

Our State Assembly is having a terrible fight. There is twenty-seven "Epics" (Eliminate Poverty in California) the Sinclair ticket. That's out of a membership of eighty in the lower house. Well, the fight is just among these twenty-seven. It's a bill to stop all these unemployed that's flocking into the State (it passed the lower house). Some Epics say they can eliminate the poverty in the State, but they can't eliminate all the poverty that comes in, others say that one State can't bar people of other States, all of which gets back to my plan, that is of being able to wire the Supreme Court and ask them, they reply with a night letter, and the whole thing is settled once and for all.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

seven days brings the case under the federal Lindbergh law, passed by congress when the nation was aroused with horror and indignation at the abduction and slaying of the first child of Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh.

Although some sources said a second message has been received, a spokesman for the family denied any new communication had come and there were definite indications there has been no second note. Several times in the last few days Weyerhaeuser and several friends have made secret journeys into the country surrounding Tacoma. It was evident they were trying desperately to contact the kidnapers who had promised to "watch their every move" from the moment they left the house. F. I. Titcomb, intermediary in the case, admitted the expeditions had been without success.

Fear For Safety
The family's greatest fear was that the abductors would carry out a threat to make them "sorrowful" if all conditions of the note were not complied with within five days. The time limit expired Wednesday.

While the Weyerhaeusers continued their fevered efforts to deliver the money into the kidnapers' hands, agents of the department of justice, the men who had wiped out the Dillinger, the Mais, and the Floyd gangs and partly obliterated the Barker-Karpis gang, continued their search for clues without interfering with the family's activities.

Guest artists of the orchestra who were scheduled to appear included Betty Jean Koster, talented Santa Ana dancer and singer and her singing partner, Katherine Hambright. Alice Imamoto, Japanese child pianist, was another artist who was to appear at the Exposition.

The Register party of several hundred persons arrived in San Diego this morning, and immediately was taken to the Exposition grounds in beautiful Balboa Park.

After being admitted to the Exposition grounds, the party visited several of the famous concessions, including Shakespeare's Old Globe theater, a true reproduction of London's historic playhouse; the "End of the Trail," Indian village revealing the primitive home and life of American Indians; "The Days of Saladin," mammoth production featuring the world renowned "Logg Arabian horses and the midjet farm, where an entire community has been constructed to scale for the smallest midgets in the world.

At noon the party was taken to the famous Zoological Gardens, where luncheon was served.

Following a tour of inspection through the various industrial, commercial, educational and art buildings, the party is to return home this evening after a grand day at the Exposition. Members of the Register party enjoyed the entire day without the necessity for spending a cent.

Preliminary preparations for the special state election called for July 30, to vote on two proposed constitutional amendments, one for the construction of a new state prison in Southern California, and the other relating to state borrowing powers, were being carried on today by County Clerk J. M. Backs.

Jacks announced that June 20 will be the last date for registering to vote at the special election, or for re-registering, or transferring registration to a new precinct, if the voter has moved since the last election.

Senate constitutional amendment No. 26, proposing a bond issue for the new prison, will be one proposition on the ballot. With it will be Senate bill 1120, proposing to carry into effect the provisions of No. 26 if that is approved by the people.

Also on the ballot will be Senate Constitutional amendment No. 18, to amend Article 17 of the state constitution, relating to the power of the legislature to provide for borrowing of money to meet appropriations, in anticipation of collection of taxes.

Senate bill 1118, which formally calls the election, further provides that precincts may be consolidated, and that there shall be three members of each precinct election "In the same old way, I'll ask probation for my client," remarked board, whose compensation shall not exceed $3 each.

There is a possibility, said Backs, that additional state proposals will be submitted to the electorate on the same ballot.

his attorney, L. F. Coburn, of Orange, beaming genially at the court.

OPENS STORE

E. L. Lucas, below, is opening the Lucas Appliance store on Broadway near Third street today. He will handle the Norge line of refrigerators and washing machines.

for eggs. Hunters turned in 7167 heads and 9,228 eggs.

LUCAS OPENS APPLIANCE SHOP ON BROADWAY

E. L. Lucas, former manager of Montgomery Ward company's large store here, will stage a grand opening of his new electric appliance shop at 302 North Broadway tomorrow. It was announced today.

Since last March Lucas has been contemplating the opening of an appliance store and before entering business he made a careful study of all the national lines. After a very complete survey he said he decided on the Norge as the finest line that could be offered the public from every angle.

Lucas took into consideration economy of operation, beauty of design, freedom from service problems and low purchase price of the various lines before deciding that the Norge was the line he wanted to offer to his friends and patrons in Santa Ana and Orange county.

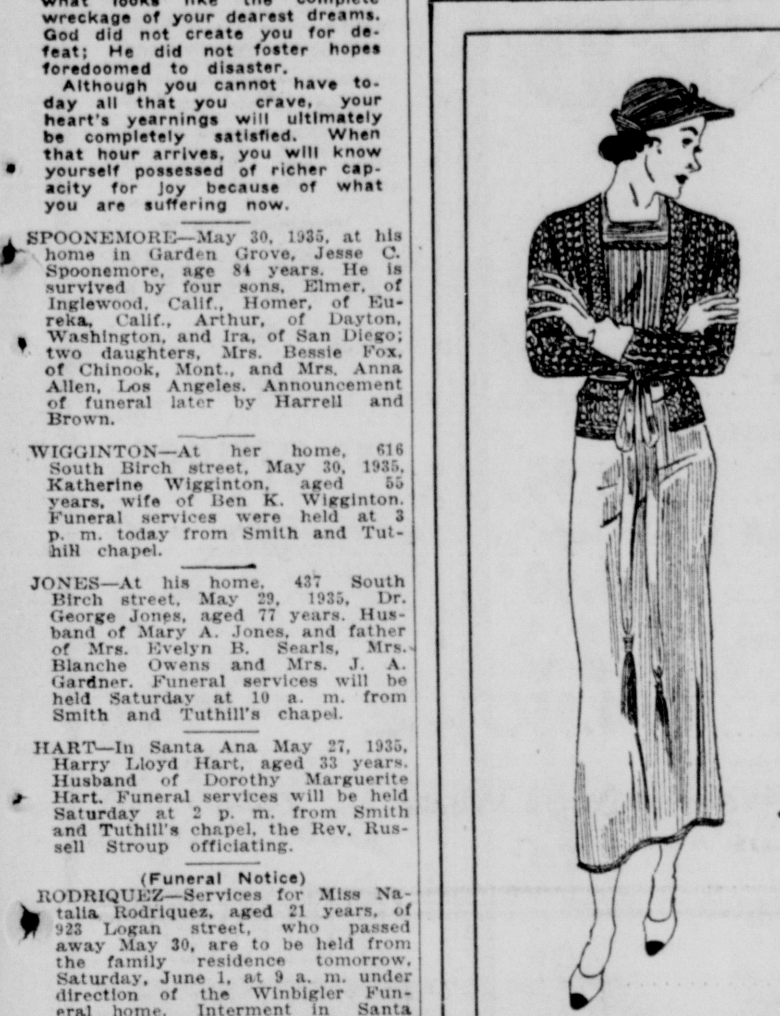

Lucas declared that he selected his location on Broadway because it seems to be the appliance street of the city. Traffic has been increased due to the large number of markets and business houses in that section, and that he is of the belief that this is the most progressive street in Santa Ana. He spent several months in his investigations, which also made him sure, he said, that there is not a better city and county in the United States in which to start business than Santa Ana and Orange county.

The new Norge refrigerators will come in four colors, white, tan, peach and mother-of-pearl. Lucas said it is one of the most economical refrigerators on the market, the reason for this being that it has a type of compressor, called the rotator, which is unique. It has but three moving parts, which are sealed in oil and which, therefore, have little chance of ever wearing out, he declared. Nationally, the Norge sales have increased tremendously, he said, over nearly all other refrigerators. He said the increase in 1934 alone amounted to 214 per cent in sales.

The Lucas Appliance store also will feature the Norge washing machines and ironers, of which there are six models of the former and five of the latter. The same high quality type of construction is used in the washing machines and ironers as in the Norge refrigerators, he said.

The new store has been completely remodeled, with the interior done in light tan and brown with a red tile floor. The exterior is finished in green.

MISS MUNRO WINS COLLEGE SCHOLARSHIP

Miss Margaret Munro, daughter of Mrs. Emily Munro, 1722 Bush street, a member of this year's graduating class of Santa Ana High school, has received the coveted Mrs. William E. Otis Scripps college scholarship. It was announced today.

The sum of $800 to be applied on the first year's work at Scripps college, is the annual gift of Mrs. Otis, 2220 Victoria Drive and Miss Betty Smedley and Miss Dorothy Proctor. It is based on general scholarship standing plus extra-curricular activities, and character, and winning it does not bar a student from entering for other scholarships.

Miss Munro, who has served the high school student body as secretary this semester, has also filled that position for her class both in the junior year and the present senior year. She is president of the Honor society, a member of the California School federation, and associate editor of the Ariel, the High school annual.

Her extra-curricular activities have included entry in the Tri-County's Oratorical contest on Peace, in which she placed second.

In the finals held earlier this month in Mission Inn, Riverside; membership in both Latin and French clubs, prominence in school plays, in several of which she has played the lead, and as a member of the cast of the approaching class day play, "Big Hearted Herbert"; membership in the Alpha Service club (based on extra-curricular interests), and prominence in all branches of high school sports.

Girls' Ebell society is another of Miss Munro's interests and she has filled the offices of both treasurer and vice president in that organization.

QUICK ACTION BY FIREMEN SAVES TREES

By the narrow margin of just a few seconds, the Santa Ana fire department today averted a fire which would likely have destroyed a long row of beautiful eucalyptus trees on South Main street near St. Gertrude Place, and possibly adjacent buildings as well.

Dry grass along the sidewalk on the west side of Main street had become ignited, possibly from a carelessly thrown cigarette, resulting in a call to the fire department at 8:27 o'clock this morning.

The blaze quickly climbed up the trunk of an eucalyptus tree and ignited the oily leaves which burned like tinder. By the time the fire hose could be connected with the water supply, the fire had extended up into the tree some 25 feet. Except for the prompt action of firemen, the blaze would soon have reached the top of the tree and been out of control, menacing the entire neighborhood.

Two other brush fires were extinguished by the fire department crews yesterday, one at 10:25 on a vacant lot at West Sixth and Western, and another in the Santiago creek bed on North Main street at 5:45 last evening.

Additional warnings to residents to guard against fire by keeping brush and grass cleared from houses, garages, and other buildings were issued today by Fire Chief John Luxembourg. Grass and weeds are now sufficiently dry to flare up dangerously, Luxembourg said, and extra precautions should be used by householders, and also by smokers, until all grass and weed patches shall have been cleaned off.

GRAND CENTRAL TO CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY

Celebrating the thirteenth anniversary of the opening of the Grand Central Market, merchants of the market are inaugurating a series of extra-special bargain events and demonstrations starting tomorrow and continuing all next week. It was announced today by G. H. Boardman, market manager.

Gaily colored pennants will decorate the market throughout as the special event gets under way. Food demonstrators will appear at the various market establishments to show the latest and best, and Rube White, well known Leslie clown, will be on hand tomorrow in connection with the opening of the new Wiegand Food Store to amuse patrons throughout the market building.

As events of the anniversary week were planned, some of the market merchants who have served the public there continuously since its opening, recalled the early history of the market 13 years ago.

The block bounded by Second, Third, Broadway, and First was just a vacant block when it was brought by the original builders of the market, including Linn Shaw, A. N. Zerman, Roy Russell, Frank Purinton, and Henry Work, and construction of the block-long market building was determined upon.

Completeness of service and availability of parking space brought instant success, and the ensuing 13 years is a record of growth and development, with the construction of additional store buildings, the Grand Central apartments, and enlargement of the market in many ways.

Zerman, Shaw, and Russell today retain their original interest in the market property, along with the Henry Work estate, and H. C. Head, who has assumed the Purinton interest in the market holdings.

"Our anniversary sales have always proven popular with the people of Santa Ana," said Boardman today, "and we have every reason to believe the coming week will be a most profitable time for everyone to visit the market and participate in our celebration."

WIEGAND OPENS NEW FOOD STORE

WIEGAND STORE OPENING AT GRAND CENTRAL

A new home-owned and home-operated grocery makes its appearance in Santa Ana tomorrow with the grand opening of the Wiegand Food Store in the arcade section of the Grand Central Market at 208 West Second street, opposite the Banner Produce and the Schmidt market.

The store will feature a complete line of nationally-advertised grocery products at competitive prices, and offers special bargains for the opening day.

Music for the event tomorrow will be furnished by the Hosman Hawaiian quartet which will entertain morning, afternoon, and evening.

H. J. Wiegand is manager of the new store, which is affiliated with the Wiegand grocery in the Fourth Street Market which has been operated for the past several months by Wm. L. Wiegand. For several years the Wiegand brothers operated a large grocery store and bakery in Indianapolis before coming to California seven years ago.

An interesting feature of the new store is that it will push the sale of Orange county products wherever possible, and that all equipment and supplies were purchased locally in carrying out the "Buy in Orange County" idea.

All fixtures and shelving were built by the Barr Lumber company, the butter box was constructed by the Nagel-Gohres company of Anaheim; electric wiring and fixtures were supplied by the Gilbert-Weston-Stearns company, and the refrigeration unit was installed by the Kohlenberger Engineering corporation of Fullerton.

New car registrations for the first eight months of 1934 in Wisconsin totaled 31,095, against 19,988 in the same period of 1933.

Tests have shown that the average flame speed for a normal spark plug explosion is about 70 feet a second, or nearly 5 miles an hour.

WHEEL TAKEN FROM OFFICER'S AUTO

It is rather adding insult to injury when a thief picks an officer of the law to rob.

Ralph Pantuso, newly appointed relief police officer during the vacation season, is now on night duty, and parked his car last night near the city hall at Second and Broadway.

Sometime between 3 and 4:45 o'clock this morning, a thief came by, stopped, and "lifted" the spare tire, tube, and rim from the car, according to report on file at the police station.

GAS COMPANY TO MAINTAIN NRA SCHEDULE

Wages of employees and hour schedules instituted under the NRA by the Southern Counties Gas Company will be continued under present plans, despite the supreme court decision adverse to the NRA, according to announcement today by Fred M. Merker of Santa Ana, district manager of the company.

"We contemplate no increase as to hours nor decrease as to wages as a result of the NRA decision," Merker said. "We have adjusted our operations to the basis of a 40-hour week, and under present conditions we believe a return to longer hours would be a step backward."

STORK CALL IN AMBULANCE RECALLED BY GIRL'S VISIT

A certain member of the Santa Ana police force was flabbergasted recently when a very beautiful young lady stopped her car and sought to strike up an acquaintance.

"Are you Mr. Hershey?" the young lady inquired, as she approached Officer E. A. Hershey sitting astride his motorcycle waiting for speeders and other traffic violators.

"Don't you know me?" the beautiful young thing then inquired, after Hershey had replied in the affirmative to her first question.

Hershey didn't know her, even though he might have wondered wistfully where she had been all his life. In fact, he couldn't recall ever having seen the lady before, and told her so.

"Well, then," the vision continued, "do you remember one time when you were driving an ambulance and a baby was born in the car before you could get to the hospital?"

"Yes, I remember that," said Hershey, recalling an occasion back in Boulder, Colorado some 20 years ago, when the stork paid a visit to his ambulance while he was enroute with the prospective mother to a hospital.

It was such an unusual occasion he could hardly forget it.

"Well, I am that baby!" replied the young lady, and a happy visit ensued for Hershey had known the girl's parents back in Colorado and was glad to hear of old-time mutual friends through this visitor from his old home who was passing thru Santa Ana on a visit and stopped to look him up.

"How should I know the girl?" asked Hershey today. "I hadn't seen her since she was a tiny youngster, and babies change a lot as they grow up into young ladies."

BRITISH POET, GREEK HERO

THE literary world remembers George Gordon Lord Byron for his Childie Harold, his Don Juan, and other poetic works. But in Greece this famed liberal poet is honored for the great deed he did in uniting the various revolutionary factions of that country, in 1824, and making it possible for them to accomplish their country's independence from Turkey.

Byron had given much of his fortune and his physical efforts to this cause, and was about to enter into the actual fighting, when he was stricken with pneumonia and died.

In 1924, Greece issued two types of stamps in Lord Byron's honor, commemorating the centenary of his independence. One is shown here.

E. L. Lucas Gives Reasons for Opening S. A. Business

E. L. Lucas, formerly a Montgomery Ward store manager, today announces the opening of his own business at 302 North Broadway, where the nationally known Norge line of electrical appliances will be handled. Mr. Lucas, while with national companies, has worked all over the United States, and it is his observation, based on a two years' experience in Santa Ana, that Orange county is a better place to live in, a better place to work in and a better place to do business in than any other section of the United States. "Santa Ana is a wonderful town," says Mr. Lucas, "and conditions are ideal. I'm glad to be able to stay here where people is so pronounced. 'Sooner or later, after travelling all over the country, one finds a spot to settle down in, and I've found it in Santa Ana,' points out Lucas.

Nationally Known Norge Line to Be Sold in Santa Ana

After a careful investigation, over a period of two and one-half months, E. L. Lucas, formerly manager of the Montgomery Ward Store, has made a selection of the nationally known Norge line. The Norge is the last word in electrical refrigeration, a statement that is not only backed up by the Norge Company, but is attested to by thousands using this product. "The Norge washers, ironers and other electrical appliances have been kept abreast (and even ahead) of the times by scientific manufacturing methods," said Mr. Lucas, "and it's a pleasure, indeed to be able to show this famous line to Orange county housewives." Mr. Lucas' display room is located at 302 North Broadway and the public is invited to see the various models on display.

THE WHOLE PROBLEM of selecting a refrigerator is summed up in four questions.

1 Is it economical? Because of its compressor design, Norge uses less current to make more cold. The result is saving in both refrigeration and in food costs. Owners report savings up to $11 a month.

2 Is it convenient? Norge is equipped with every feature of convenience that Norge has proved to be sound. Those who have used a Norge wonder how they ever kept house without Rollator Refrigeration.

3 Has it a dependable, efficient mechanism? Only Norge has the Rollator Compressor. With but three slowly moving parts, it is powered to make more cold than you'll ever need, uses very little current, is almost everlasting, actually improves with use.

4 Is it backed by responsible manufacturer and distributor?

As a Borg-Warner product, Norge is backed by a 32-million-dollar corporation, with fifteen mammoth factories in four states. Norge is distributed by responsible merchants, retailed by reputable dealers.

Before you invest in a new refrigerator, get all the facts about Rollator Refrigeration. See the Norge before you buy.

THE ROLLATOR COMPRESSOR... smooth, easy, rolling power instead of the hurried back-and-forth action of the ordinary refrigerator mechanism. Result—more cold for the current used and a mechanism which actually improves with use. Only Norge has the advantage of the Rollator Compressor.

BATTING AVERAGES TELL STORY OF STARS' CLIMB

A year ago today, Santa Ana was struggling along in fifth place in the National Night League, juggling a .300 average in games won and lost.

The same club, almost man for man, is now in first place, undefeated.

More eloquently than words, the batting average, tell the story.

At this time in 1934, the Stars were batting as a team .370. This season they are sporting an aggregate mark of .325, a net gain of 55 points.

Individually, every member of the squad save one has hoisted his percentage anywhere from 45 points to 304, the latter being the net improvement of Third Baseman Tommy Young, now the league's No. 1 hitter. Even George Preble, the only man without a higher average, has batted in a more timely manner, his blows coming at the most opportune times such as at Anaheim last week when he cracked a homer that put the skids under Pitcher "String" McDonnell. Furthermore, Preble has played beautifully at first base where he was shifted this spring after six years of meritorious service at second.

The following table indicates the improvement of those who were with Santa Ana in '34 and are still laboring with the club:

1934	1935
Denney . . . . .452	Denney . . . . .478
Preble . . . . .370	Preble . . . . .372
Coates . . . . .278	Coates . . . . .412
Young . . . . .267	Young . . . . .384
Sears . . . . .260	Sears . . . . .341

Side Glances at the dog races:

A wise greyhound, thwarted by the curtain at the end of the course, eludes handlers, hurdles wire fence and streaks across in field. Catching the mechanical arm on the other side of the track, he chews and shakes the "rabbit" until frantic gendarmes pull him away. . . . Less smart hounds overtake rabbit when something goes wrong with the mechanism, or the operator dozes, but they sprint right by and on around the track.

"Colonel" Berry, the press agent, sitting in as a judge. . . .

American Legion Drum and Bugle corps members, in full regalia, parading the dogs before each race.

After putting hounds in starting box, they "dress up" and then dog-track back to kennels. . . . Loud-speaker system goes awry. . . .

No betting, not a boogie in sight, but everybody trying to pick the winner. . . .

Sid Allender, the umpire, talking baseball. . . .

Jimmie Heffron, the Anaheim scribe, with hat cocked to side of his Irish head. . . .

Neil Stanley giving the plant the double-o and voting canine-centering a poor second even to the "dogs" of the horse tracks. . . .

Leland Auer and his Santa Ana Evening school band at work between races. . . . Nervous yelps of the whippets from the kennels when they hear the whir of the mechanical arm. Local dog making good. . . . The horrible thought I might have to turn "handicapper" if the pari-mutuels come. . . .

Well, I ought to do as well as some of the Santa Ana experts. . . .

Especially the one who wrote of Head Play, "about ready for the glue factory." . . . Too much dust. . . . and not enough grandstand. . . .

Bob Fernandez with his customary grin. . . . "Pat" Patison, the gent who "makes up" this page, trying to pick 'em, leaving his famed toy terrier, "Tinker," at home. . . .

A club breeder. . . . Business Manager George Kellogg in overseas cap. . . .

California Flash just that. . . . Free parking might help. . . .

Three cents is easier than 25. . . . Three pups, trailing field by 20 lengths, playing while others run. . . .

TICKETTAPE: It's a girl at the Jim Musick's. Why is it most big, husky athletes have girl babies. . . .

When they probably want boys who'll be champs at something or other. . . .

When Jim Daneri heaved the javelin 219 feet, 4 inches last week he beat two of the best in the business, Warren Demaris and Bob Parke of Oregon. Demaris sent the spear flying 218-10 but Parke, N. C. A. A. champ last year, did 220 feet. . . .

Tommy Young, the Santa Ana third baseman who is leading the National league in batting, was cast off by both Long Beach and Huntington Beach a few years ago. . . .

Dr. R. A. Dunn's Bola Mola ran third at Caliente yesterday, encountering speedy competition from horses "stepping over" from Tanforan. . . .

Bill Milligan may not be able to play high school football next fall because of the broken left arm he sustained in the 1934-1935 game at the Bowl Friday night. . . .

Brea's Rudy Montgomery, one-time pitching partner of Venn Botts when the two of them were starting their softball careers at Colton, entered the Orange County Night league's Hall of Fame last night by hurling a no-hit game.

Montgomery did not give Olive a run or a hit as Brea won, 16-0. The two Olive runners who reached first base were safe on errors, one by Montgomery himself and one by Shortstop Thompson. Montgomery had 16 strikeouts.

The victory kept Brea, 1934 champion, tied with Fullerton for first place. Fullerton also had a cakewalk, routing Garden Grove, 23-8. Gordon Donaldson blasted two more home runs, running his total to five in four games.

Irvine doggedly pursued Fullerton and Brea by drubbing San Juan Capistrano, 9-2. Cook of Irvine was a fielding sensation, handling six tough chances without a bobbie.

Placentia defeated Huntington Beach, 9-0, Jones hurling four-hit ball for the upcountry combination.

PRESIDENT CUP WON BY BEACH AT GOLF CLUB

J. W. (Bill) Beach had a handsome vessel today in which to display some of the flowers he makes up at his North Broadway florist shop.

He won the President's Cup at the Santa Ana Country club yesterday, defeating H. A. ("Mickey") Walker of Orange, 12 and 10, in what was to have been a 36-hole final. The onesided match ended on the twenty-sixth green.

Beach packed a liberal handicap allowance, four holes to each 18. He didn't need it. He played all scratch, the former Orange football captain being off stride. Walker shot the first nine in 45 to Beach's 50, but Beach negotiated the backside in 42 to Walker's 45, and also did better on the 43rd and 44th.

Thus, Florist Beach became the sixth man to capture the President's Cup tournament, one of the major events of the Santa Ana golfing season. Preston Piper won it last year, Jack Robinson in 1933, H. B. Van Dine in 1932, B. Z. McKinney in 1931, E. F. Maister in 1930 and Cecil Mock in 1929. Approximately 100 members participated in the event this year. The trophy was presented by Dr. G. C. Ross, retiring president.

FLYING KELLY PETILLO WINS $35,000 WORTH JUNKYARD CAR

BY HENRY McLEMORE (United Press Staff Correspondent)

INDIANAPOLIS, May 31.—Kelly Petillo, who learned his driving behind the wheel of a fruit truck in Los Angeles, today isn't worrying any more about where his next spare automobile parts are coming from.

He had $35,000 in his pockets and the prospect of a great deal more before the next Indianapolis 500-mile speed race rolls around.

Kelly today was the king of American drivers, winner of the 1935 classic. He won it with a car that his 32 rivals still insist was held together with piano wire, a bit of twine from the corner grocery, and a couple of rolls of adhesive tape. But he won it just the same, and in four hours 28 minutes at the swiftest average the race ever saw—106.264 miles per hour.

Eight days ago you wouldn't have bet a nickel against the $20,000 that he won for first prize, $2050 for lap prizes and the rest for accessory prizes, because Kelly's automobile was spread all over one of the turns that cost Kelly Weatherly, the 24-year-old Illinois driver, his life in yesterday's race. Weatherly was the fourth casualty of the year's race, and the eleventh in the last three years to die on the burning bricks.

Many of Petillo's rivals knew he had the fastest job in the race, but neither they nor the record crowd of 175,000 ever expected it would last 500 miles. But Petillo hung off the pace for the first 240 miles, letting his arch-rival from California, Rex Mays, burn up the first half of the grind. Then when Mays went out with a broken spring shackle on the 95th lap, Petillo, who had never been worse than fourth, shot into the lead and held it to the finish.

Sixty miles from home, a sprinkling of rain wet the track, causing the officials to slow the field for 33 miles to 75 miles an hour for the 10th lap. Then when Petillo was only 25 miles from home, Wilbur Shaw and "Wild Bill" Cummings, last year's winner, who laid back and figured to make their great bid in the stretch, were completely stymied by the weather as Petillo was aided. After the rain, when he saw he could not overtake Petillo, Shaw concentrated on beating Cummings out for the 10th place prize. Even so, he finished only 35 seconds behind the winner, the better part of a lap back, while Cummings was a full five miles in Kelly's wake.

Of the original 33 starters, only 13 were on the track at the finish.

Revise Order Of Events For Ohio, S. C. Dual Meet

LOS ANGELES, May 31.—Giving Jesse Owens, sensational world's record smashing sophomore star of the Ohio State track team, an opportunity to compete in all of his favorite events with a good rest between each one and also giving the Buckeyes a better chance to win the meet, the University of Southern California - Ohio State meet in the Coliseum June 15 will use a revised order of events and will count first places only.

Using the system that the Oxford-Cambridge team employs in the annual contests with the Yale-Harvard-Princeton squad, the meet here will give one point for each first place. Thus there will be 15 points to be contested for. Even so, Owens will be heavily favored to take four of them with firsts in both sprints, the broad jump and low hurdles. The Buckeyes will need only four more first places to win the meet, putting the Trojans, who in an ordinary dual meet would be heavily favored to win despite Owens, very much "on the spot."

The first-place-only method of scoring was decided upon by Director Hunter and Director of Athletics L. W. St. John of Ohio State, who agreed that it would even up the team battle and also give Owens a chance to be at his best in all of his events. Hunter has offered to have the order of events changed to whatever Owens desires to give him ample rest between performances. For example, ordinarily the 220 and low hurdles are held with only a ten-minute interval, but as Owens competes in both and will be seeking to smash his own new world's records in these events the program will be rearranged for him.

The dual meet here will be staged jointly with the City League championship finals, giving track fans in one afternoon Jesse Owens and his leading Ohio State team mates, the powerful Trojan track team and the outstanding stars of 36 Los Angeles city high schools.

ACCOMPLISHMENTS

The proof of the NRA pudding lies buried in the government's own monthly business chart. There you may trace precisely what it has accomplished in the way of equalizing employment and wages in relation to industrial production during the 21 months of its existence.

The NRA became operative in September, 1933. At that time factory production was 84 per cent normal, employment 75 per cent, wages 59.1.

It became inoperative this last week of May. At this time factory production is authoritatively estimated at 84 per cent normal; employment 81 per cent; wages 63.5 per cent.

You need not be a mathematician to figure out that production now is just where it was when the NRA started, employment is roughly 5 per cent better, and wages 10 per cent better.

PURPOSE
The importance of this is fundamental in measuring NRA. Hardly a memory is good enough to recall now that its original objective was to equalize wages and employment with production. It was started because manufacturers were cutting wages and firing men while requiring the retained employees to produce more. This objective has been lost sight of at least publicly.

General Johnson turned chaser and introduced some innovations which even he had not thought of at the time he helped to write the original NRA law.

His basic problem is disclosed by the figures for the July preceding the application of the NRA codes. For that month production was 100, but employment remained unimproved at 72.5 per cent and payrolls were down to the unbelievable figure of 50.8 per cent.

Perhaps some NRA enthusiasts would rather take the July figure for the purpose of measuring NRA accomplishments. They are at liberty to claim a better showing for the Blue Eagle in that way, but, of course, basically the July situation was artificial.

You may trace for yourself the pre-NRA business situation, and the fluctuations since its inauguration in the chart which follows. All figures are official, except those of the last month, which are unofficially estimated.

Each figure represents the percentage of normal existing at the times stated. Seasonal fluctuations are eliminated. Normal is the monthly averages for the years 1923 to 1925, inclusive, except for the price index, which is based on 1926.

CURRENT BUSINESS

You may also note from the chart that business this spring continues to show slightly less than the normal seasonal improvement—the May stock market to the contrary notwithstanding.

The general level of production, employment, wages and sales is about the same as at this time last year. Only one feature is strongly improved, prices. However, prices involved a special situation reflecting the condition brought by last year's drought. General business prices have undergone little change recently.

PROSPECTS
Few economic authorities will be foolhardy enough to make any promises about the next few months. The situation seems to be entirely in the hands of the administration. The outcome depends entirely on how the New Deal readjusts the details of its economic policies.

In general, aside from the all-important Washington situation, there is nothing particularly significant in the existing business condition; nothing to be pessimistic about; nothing to cheer about. Some authorities expect a boom; others are anticipating a milder improvement.

PRODUCTION

The failure of industrial production to measure up to seasonal expectations may be traced to several special factors. The curtailment of textile production is one. Another is the fact that coal consumers stocked up in expectation of a strike April 1 and coal loadings have been subnormal since the strike failed to materialize. Lumber output was cut by a recent strike in the northwest.

The level of other manufacturing generally continued at about normal. Plate glass, Tobacco, and shoes showed some increases.

The bellwether automobile industry was strong in April but fell off in May due to the strike. The output for one week in May was 110. It dropped to 87 in the strike week. Steel figures shortly to be announced for May will probably establish a new low for the year. Textiles have lately been showing some new signs of life.

A substantial increase has been noted in rayon; cotton is slightly better; wool activity is keeping up.

PRICES
There is no use trying to measure what the NRA did to prices. Too many other factors are involved. It is impossible to segregate what influence was exerted by NRA, money policy, the drought.

But you can say flatly that farm and food prices continued to increase from March to April while the level of all other prices shrank almost imperceptibly. Farm prices jumped up to 80.4, food to 84.5, while all others lagged at 77.2. This condition continued basically unchanged through May.

BUILDING
Cast your eye on the building figures and note how much there is behind the stories in current circulation about the big spring boost in construction. The spring rise in that industry has been slightly less than seasonal and is exactly where it was at this time last year—25 per cent normal.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

FEATHER—
Secretary Morgenthau's experiment of selling $100,000,000 of bonds to the highest bidder—instead of at a set price—has a double purpose. One is to show that the treasury is not dependent on the big bankers or on Federal Reserve open market purchases for its financing. The fact that small bids are to be given preference is the tip-off. Small banks, insurance companies and individual investors will head the parade.

As a show its success is assured. Heavy over-subscriptions at high figures will look very pretty. Wall Street critics complain that a hundred million is hardly a fair test of the theory when there are billions in sight to be raised—but nobody else will bother much about that. New Yorkers also speculate as to whether the institutions which "cooperate" best by bidding highest will enjoy a favored status with the Treasury hereafter by a new form of log-rolling. They're not certain what forms favoritism could take but on principle they view with alarm. Some bids were undoubtedly figured with this possibility in mind.

The second object of the move is to determine whether the same method can be applied successfully to the June financing. When Mr. Morgenthau will want to raise between half a billion and a billion in new funds. If it can it will probably mean cheaper interest than the Treasury would care to stipulate outright and another feather in Mr. Morgenthau's cap.

SPEED—
A compromise is being shaped on the Eccles bill which will give New York bankers at least a part of the concessions they crave. It's understood the government will accept an amendment creating a major policy committee of 13—to consist of the eight members of the Federal Reserve Board and five governors of regional Reserve Banks. Policies ordered by this group would be carried out by an executive committee of five—the chairman and two other members of the Reserve Board and two regional governors.

This would mean the bankers' demand for a voice in the disposition of their funds. At the same time there would still be centralized control and the government—through the Reserve Board—would still play a dominant role. The bankers, however, have no chance of getting their other hearts' desire—eviction of the Secretary of the Treasury and the Comptroller of the Currency from the Reserve Board.

The compromise is prompted by the administration's wish to get the bill passed and out of the way and the bankers' fear that if the issue isn't settled now it will crop up again in a worse form. Unless a further hitch develops, Senator Glass will soon abandon his stalling tactics and the bill will go through with amazing speed.

PEON—
One element in the work relief wage scale has northern manufacturers on their ears. The cotton textile code—after prolonged argument—established a wage spread of 3½ per cent between northern and southern mills. Now comes the federal government and sets up a minimum differential of 25 per cent. In some classifications it amounts to more than 100 per cent.

With this official precedent all

BEAUTIES OF BIG EXPOSITION ARE RECOUNTED

BY LOYAL K. KING

In a setting far more beautiful than Chicago had to offer, the San Diego Fair opened officially at 11 a. m. Wednesday. While not as large as its Chicago rival there are amusement and educational opportunities for everybody. If it's education you want, the various exhibits offer far more than any one can absorb in a week. If it's entertainment you want there are plenty of carnival entertainments, side shows and the like.

The least advertised and yet the most beautiful feature of the Fair is its beautiful setting in Balboa park, the site of the 1915 exposition. The semi-permanent buildings then erected have all been rebuilt and redecorated, trees and shrubs are well developed, the Montezuma Gardens then just planted are now in their full beauty, the Canyon of Palms upon which colored lights are played at night are more beautiful than any artificial creation. The lighting displays are amongst the marvels of the Fair.

The acres and acres of landscaping that has been done with flowers and potted shrubs is something that the Chicago Fair could not begin to rival.

The many shaded walks and grassy nooks give the entire grounds an appearance of restfulness, and real contentment which will delight all who experienced the crowded honky tonk atmosphere of Chicago.

Undoubtedly the Ford exhibit is the prominent industrial display of the Exposition. Here is displayed Henry Ford's first automobile. "And what an automobile." Built in 1893 it is a two cylinder horizontal type of gas motor such as a juvenile might build now in his own work shop. A leather belt and pulley arrangement transmit the power to the drive shaft. The cooling system is a water tank located under the front seat; the ignition system is a collection of six glass jars which constituted his battery system; his motor horn was a big door bell.

Ford's exhibit is almost as complete as that of the previous two years. It contains an electric foundry, a small steel rolling mill, illustrates the casting of the V-8 motor, has a complete small scale model of his cooling plant, gas works, illustrates how he unloads coal and iron ore from lake steamers, how chemicals are distilled from coking gas, how dyes are made, how tires are made, how the materials that go into the making of a Ford are tested, and a complete machine shop similar to the one in which he has enrolled 1700 Detroit boys and in which he is teaching these boys to become skilled mechanics.

Other exhibits at the Fair are miniature models of oil wells both above and beneath the ground. The state of California building will house exhibits that will illustrate the commerce industry and topography of the entire state.

The Gold Gulch will illustrate the life in a gold mining town of the past century. Here the panning of gold is actually done but the gold recovered is fool's gold or iron pyrite and for a small amount those who want to, may buy at bit of it. Shooting irons and shooting galleries abound as well as the early "stamp mills" which was the humorous name given to dance halls. Early western atmosphere abounds as well as schemes to trim the suckers.

The San Diego Zoo is located in the Fair Grounds and for those who tire of the fair or who bring their children this well provide

HOLLYWOOD HAPPENINGS

By DAN THOMAS, Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, May 31.—Grantland Rice still doesn't know it, but he missed a perfect opportunity to shoot the best sport short of his career the other day. Rice and his cameraman were out on the Lakeside golf course filming a distant foursome through a telescopic lens.

With that lens, if they had just turned their camera right around, they would have caught George Brent teaching Garbo how to punch a bag. Brent's home is on the edge of the golf course, not more than 150 yards from where Rice was working.

And the two players were as oblivious of his presence as he was of theirs. They were that interested in the punching bag.

Comic Villains

David Selznick appears to have acquired a complex for converting comedians into villains. First he cast Roland Young as the villainous Uriah Heep in "David Copperfield." And now he has signed Walter Catlett to play John Barsad, a heartless rascal in "Tale of Two Cities."

NEW OIL WELL BEING DRILLED NEAR CCC CAMP

Possible development of a new oil field tributary to Santa Ana loomed today, when it became known that oil drilling operations are under way in the Trabuco canyon district.

The prospective oil well is already down 600 feet and will be carried to a depth of 5000 feet, giving a thorough test of the field, unless commercial production is encountered nearer the surface, it was learned. A No. 5 rotary outfit is being used, with 134-foot derrick.

The well is being drilled by the Canyon Oil company, with headquarters in Long Beach, and which includes several men formerly associated with Dad Joiner, discoverer of the great East Texas oil field. It was reported today, Tom Edwards is manager of the company and Howard Zellers is in charge of drilling. The well is located on the east half of Section 367, owned by a syndicate of Santa Ana and Long Beach people.

Drilling of this well, which is reported to be fully financed, is carrying out a 15-year-old dream of Roy H. Hall of 420 South Birch street, Santa Ana, one of the organizers of the Tepathol Oil company which started drilling operations on the Robinson place in Trabuco canyon in 1919.

Hall, along with several other Santa Ana men, became convinced oil would be found in the Trabuco district, and they carried the Tepathol hole to a depth of 2896 feet before they were forced to abandon the project for lack of funds.

But gas from the hole would burn to a height of several feet and there were definite oil showings, according to Hall, and he persisted. Eventually leased by Hall, as manager of a small closed corporation and it is upon this lease that the present well is being drilled. Others associated with Hall include Ed Hunter of Trabuco and L. J. Edwards of Long Beach.

An area comprising nearly four square miles extending northward from Trabuco canyon to Aliso canyon and crossing Live Oak canyon has been thoroughly examined by geologists and geo-physical experts, Hall said today, with positive findings.

The geo-physical tests indicate the first oil strata at around 3600 feet, Hall said, where possibly a 700-barrel well might be developed, and another sand at around 4300 feet which might possibly produce a 5000-barrel well.

Complete reports on the area have been prepared by Prof. Wm. C. Marshall, well known geologist of Los Angeles, whose findings were the forerunner of many important oil fields in Southern California, and by Dr. Samuel Smiltz, geophysical scientist, who made 31 tests in the Trabuco district, according to Hall.

Located in what is known as the "probable production area" of the Trabuco canyon district, according to the findings, are the Robinson, Hunter, Moulds, Hauser, Straw brothers, Adkinson brothers, and several other properties, Hall said.

To reach the Zellers well, according to Hall, autoists turn northward at the CCC camp and travel northward up the canyon from Trabuco Oaks.

Memorial Rites Held By Japanese

WINTERSBURG, May 31. — A memorial service was held Wednesday evening by the Wintersburg Presbyterian Japanese church. A sermon was preached by the Rev. K. Kikuchi, pastor of the church, and special musical numbers were presented.

On Memorial day the membership of the church paid visits to the Huntington Beach cemetery, Westminster Memorial park, Santa Ana cemetery and Westminster cemetery, and a prayer was held at each with graves of Japanese being decorated.

Interest In Big Federal Housing Exhibit Increases

BIG THREE-DAY EXHIBIT WILL START JUNE 6

Increasing interest in the federal housing program throughout Orange county resulted today in mounting interest in the great federal housing exhibit to be staged by The Register in the American Legion hall on June 6, 7 and 8.

As the time for staging the show draws nearer, more and more interest in the event is being shown by merchants, contractors, builders and others who are directly interested in the show, which is being staged to give late and accurate information to the public regarding the federal housing act.

This project contemplates uniting all interests in a tremendous display of materials, furnishings and utensils, together with a special effort to give the public every detail of information as to how they may take advantage of the unusual opportunity offered them by the government to repair and remodel their homes, purchase new furnishings, build new homes or refinance existing obligations on property.

In addition to local organizations and interests which are co-operating with The Register in staging the show, the federal housing administration, through James Berry, FHA agent in charge of Orange county, has offered every help possible in making the show the biggest thing of its kind ever staged in this section.

Speakers of national renown will appear at the show, and musical entertainment will be provided. Valuable door prizes will be given away.

Lions Club To Install On June 6

Newly elected officers of the Santa Ana Lions club will be installed at the club party to be held at 7 o'clock the evening of June 6, at the Ebell clubhouse, it was announced today.

The program for the party, which will be informal, is being arranged by Joe Peterson, Judge Kenneth E. Morrison will be in charge of the affair, and will preside at the installation ceremonies.

Officers to be installed include C. W. Harrison, president; V. M. Walker, first vice president; Franklin West, second vice president; Burr Shaffer, third vice president; E. M. Sundquist, secretary; John S. McCarty, treasurer; Lyle Anderson, tall twister; Earl Abbey and Wilbur Shook, directors.

Plans for the district convention of Lions clubs, to be held in San Diego from June 19 to 22, will be discussed. The convention will open on the evening of June 19 with a stag party for men, and an affair for women attending with their husbands.

The grand opening of the convention will be held on the following morning, with an elaborate ceremony and the start of business sessions. Members of the club will make a trip to Agua Caliente on June 22, and on June 21 an election of officers will be held, the site for the 1936 convention selected, and the Governor's Ball held in the evening.

June 23 will be Lion's Day at the San Diego Exposition, and the convention will attend in a body. Many Lions from Santa Ana are expected to attend the meeting.

HOW TO RENEW FARM HOMES IS TOLD IN BOOK

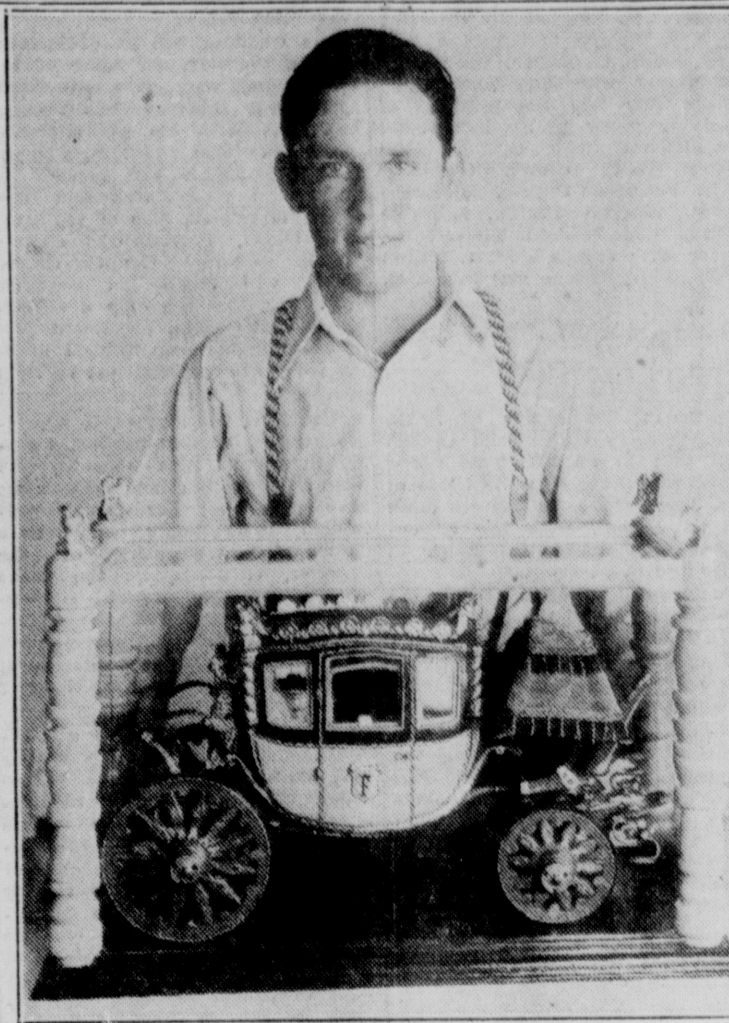

The general betterment in farm incomes, the need for renewing long neglected farm buildings and the liberal loaning plans provided by the federal government for farm structures of all types has made the farm building and construction catalogue, compiled by the agricultural engineering department of the University of California, a popular one at this time, according to an announcement made today by Farm Advisor Harold E. Wahlberg.

The catalog, which is on file at the farm advisor's office at Santa Ana, illustrates and describes each of the 100 or so farm building plans prepared by the division of agricultural engineering. Each of the 100 plans has been carefully designed for California conditions and each is complete with a description of the use and possible modifications or changes in design, specifications for construction and, in most instances, a list of the necessary materials.

By consulting the catalog a farmer is able to select intelligently a building design suitable to his requirements. Cost estimates are given for each plan to guide the selection. The complete plans and specifications are then available from the Agricultural Extension Service at a small cost, to cover the publication. The plans cover a wide range, from a bull-pen to a $7000 farm home, with emphasis placed on low cost construction. It is expected that for more elaborate plans, or for structures of special design the farmer will find it advantageous to secure the services of a qualified architect or agricultural engineer.

Publication of the plan catalog at this time is especially appropriate, considering the efforts of the federal government to encourage building activity under the National Housing act. The farmer is now able to obtain a loan for any amount up to $2000 for the complete or partial construction of any permanent or fixed type of farm structure, without the necessity of offering security and without the necessity of having his note signed by another. This loan may run from one to five years without refinancing, and may be obtained by duly qualified farmers from any bank or other financial institution accredited by the Federal Housing Administration.

DISPLAYS MODEL COACH

Work of two years is represented in the beautiful model coach which is shown below by Floyd McCullah, 18-year-old Santa Ana High school student who constructed the replica with accurate detail. The coach, which is brilliantly colored, was made with but a few tools available to the youth.

Careful craftsmanship has been combined with artistic development of design, by Floyd McCullah, 18-year-old Santa Ana High school student, in two years' work on a model Fisher body coach.

The coach is a beautiful replica of the carriages of lords and ladies of a period when beauty was the paramount consideration and it was copied from the famous Fisher body coach.

McCullah is an 18-year-old Santa Ana High school student. The miniature coach was made in his home and but few tools were available with which to work on the project. The vehicle is enclosed in a glass case.

Every part of the model operates like a real coach. Folding steps are on the mounting side and the glass windows may be raised and lowered. Over the driver's seat is a canopy and the wheels, which are especially beautiful, turn on their axles.

A vivid red, marine blue and gold predominate in the colors used in the model while cushions on the small seats inside are upholstered in white velvet. Springs on which the coach is hung were made by McCullah.

The body of the model is whittled from white pine, while gold eagles, hand carved, are mounted at the four corners of the coach and on the corners of the display case.

Citrus Men Will Talk On Surplus

Members of the citrus department of the Orange County Farm Bureau have invited heads of citrus houses to meet with them on June 27 to discuss a plan for the equitable distribution of the surplus loss during the present season, the meeting being the second to be held by the citrus committee for this purpose, it was learned today.

At the first meeting held recently, pooling plans of 20 packing houses of Orange county were studied and analyzed and from this study an effort is being made to arrive at the essential points in pooling. In the study names of packing houses were eliminated and numbers substituted. It was pointed out it is necessary that each packing house has some method of eliminating surplus fruit and in distributing the surplus loss.

Dr. D. D. Waynick heads the citrus committee. Perry Mathis of Anaheim, is head of the subcommittee making the survey. Other members of the subcommittee are J. J. Klatt of Tustin, and T. W. Clark of Hansen.

FARM ADVISOR TELLS OF SOIL EROSION TOLL

Recent dust storms in the central states have temporarily detracted the attention of residents of Orange county from soil losses experienced here at home. Farm Advisor Harold E. Wahlberg said today. Although favored in many ways, California and Orange county are by no means exempt from the toll exacted each year by flash storms which cause both sheet erosion on the gentler sloping fields and heavy cutting on the steep slopes, he said.

"Man operates first as an agent of denudation, that is, of removal of successive layers of the soil, by having the surface and by compacting the soil," he said. Of these, the former act is enormously the more significant. By destroying the cover of vegetation and by cultivation, absorption is greatly reduced and run-off is increased, and in other cases the wind is given a chance to blow away the surface soil.

"The spread of civilization in all parts of the country has been accompanied by a cutting and wasting of land without equivalent in history. Our land problem includes erosion, which will grow increasingly serious in some areas unless checked. In the Santa Paula region the Soil Conservation Service has undertaken a major demonstration base for that part of the state. A similar demonstration project is being sought by local property owners for Orange county.

"Cultivation, as has been the case in other states, will be forced away from numerous areas of steeper slopes in California in the near future. Although our hills and slopes have shown marked resistance to erosion, the effects of hillside cultivation and grazing are becoming apparent over larger and larger areas.

"The comparatively high investment value of Orange county lands makes the expedient of erosion control well worth while."

Reafsnider Back At Old Location With A. & P. Store

It was like a home-coming today for Wayne Reafsnider, as he assumed his new duties in the A. & P. grocery at the Broadway entrance to the Grand Central Market.

For eight years, Reafsnider was busy in this location, making friends and waiting on customers, for the Van grocery and the Continental store.

Then he was transferred elsewhere, a few months ago, and the A. & P. market took over the old location. And today Reafsnider returned to the old stand and was busy greeting his friends as a member of the A. & P. family of employees.

4 EXTINGUISHERS PUT OUT GAS FIRE

Safety precautions taken by the Firestone Store at First and Main streets demonstrated their effectiveness last evening at 5:15 o'clock when a gasoline fire was quickly subdued as four extinguishers were brought into use.

Because a rubber fire is a "bad fire", the store keeps a plentiful supply of extinguishers at convenient points throughout the plant, ready for instant use.

When leaking gasoline from a tractor tank became ignited from nearby electric welding operations last evening, with possible danger of explosion of the tank, four men grabbed extinguishers from their nearby racks and the incipient fire was put out in a jiffy before the fire truck could reach the scene.

Paint on the tractor was damaged to the extent of $10, according to reports.

NEW MEMBERS ON PROGRAM OF TOASTMASTERS

Three of the six speakers in the program enjoyed by members of Smedley chapter of Toastmasters International at their meeting held Wednesday evening at James' cafe were new members making their initial "craft talks" before the club.

W. S. Phelps, one of the new members, won second place in the speaking contest which is a feature of each meeting with his originality in briefly sketching his life up to his present position as a civilian engineer with the Newport harbor dredging project.

Interesting details of his experiences after graduating from college were told by Stanford E. Moses, Jr., in a talk which held the interest of the club members.

That accidents take a larger toll, both in lives and in working time lost, than any one disease, was stressed by Grant L. Kyle in the third of the new members' talks.

James N. Anderson won first place in the speaking contest with a clever talk based on opinions expressed in interviews obtained during the past several days relative to the probable results of the supreme court's adverse decision on the NRA.

WHY you should spend your money at Orange County beaches!

Whatever your job may be here; whatever your business or profession; whether or not you own property here; you are helped immeasurably by the fact that the people of San Clemente, Laguna Beach, Balboa, Newport Beach and Huntington Beach, are coming to Santa Ana in increasing numbers to buy goods which are not readily available in their own communities.

They are friendly to Santa Ana and prove it by spending their money here.

This is in marked contrast to certain beach cities in Los Angeles Co. which contribute nothing to Orange County, but lie awake nights viewing this rich prize and scheming how to TAKE FROM US!

The Rendezvous Dance Orchestra at Balboa needed new outfits in keeping with their beautiful new building. They came to us and bought thirteen ★ Palm Beach suits at the same price you pay for one. There was never a question raised about discounts. They knew the price was fair and they wanted us to make a profit. All they demanded was authentic styling and they received it.

Next, the Laguna Beach dance orchestra wanted new sports suits for their men. We are rather proud of the fact that they, too, came to us and placed their order at the regular fair price. Again, no thought of chiseling.

The above two instances, together with the many beach people who view Santa Ana as their trading center, compel us to spread the thought before our Santa Ana people to SPEND MONEY GLADLY AND FREELY AT ORANGE COUNTY BEACHES!

They bring it back, with interest, to Santa Ana!

Today Brings Couple's Golden Wedding Anniversary

Today brings the fiftieth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Meisel, 648 North Ross street, who began a week of celebration last Sunday at St. Peter Lutheran church. The golden jubilee will reach its climax tomorrow night at a party to be given in the home of Judge and Mrs. James L. Allen, 2415 Bonnie Brae.

The happy couple have made their home in this city for the past 30 years, coming here from Cumberland, Md. Their marriage took place May 31, 1885 in Somerset, Pa. Although the Meisels have no children of their own, they have opened their home to several young people, rearing them as their own.

Festivities began Sunday morning when Mr. and Mrs. Meisel shared honors with another golden wedding couple, Mr. and Mrs. Mathias Faccou, at a special ceremony performed in St. Peter Lutheran church by the pastor, Rev. H. W. Meyer. Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Lykke, who celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary last December, attended the two couples. Following a religious service, a program was presented. Miss Margaret Fields gave a reading, "Grandma Said"; a quartet composed of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hubbell, Mrs. Guy Kroons and George Krook sang "Silver Threads Among the Gold."

Refreshments were served by Mesdames Jacob Bayha and George Braun.

Invitations Received To Wedding In Glendale Wee Kirk

Invitations have been received by many Santa Ana friends to the wedding on Thursday afternoon, June 6, of Thomas Edwin Hill, son of Los Angeles and San Francisco, son of Mrs. Elizabeth Hill, 725 Mortimer street, and Miss Opal Dial of San Francisco, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Dial of Dinuba.

The wedding will be of interest here in the boyhood home of the bridegroom, who attended Santa Ana grade schools while making his home with his grandparents, the late Colonel and Mrs. Thomas L. Hill. He is the nephew of Mrs. Alice Hill Hatch and Mrs. Aldric Worawick, also of 725 Mortimer street. Patrons of the one popular Orange County Choral union will recall his beautiful voice, for although only a schoolboy, he was given prominent part in that singing organization in its several years' presentation of light operas.

Miss Dial, his fiancée, is a graduate nurse, completing her training at Mount Zion hospital, San Francisco, where she has since been practicing her chosen profession. The young people have chosen the Wee Kirk of the Heather, Glendale, as the scene of their wedding, which will occur at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Miss Dial will come south late this week to be the guest of her fiancée's family until after the wedding.

The young people have a wonderful honeymoon trip to anticipate, for they will leave immediately after the ceremony to drive to San Francisco from which point they will sail on the following day for a three months' tour of the Orient. This trip is the wedding gift of the Metropolitan Engravers, Inc., of Los Angeles, for which firm Mr. Hill is sales manager in the department of school annuals. He became associated with the firm during his high school days in Glendale when the school annual was published. He continued part time duties with the organization during his course at Santa Barbara Teachers' college, and after graduation stepped directly into the position awaiting him. His duties are to work with California high schools, junior colleges and colleges, in preparing their annuals, work that includes all matters of paper, binding and format.

After their three months in the Orient, the honeymooners will return to make their home in San Francisco.

In a balloon hot air contest, prizes contributed by Mr. Niemann were won by Bain Alexander and Jim Gross, first and second place.

Chaperones were Mrs. E. D. Vieths, George Wheeler, Dr. Roy S. Horton and members of the Mothers' Circle including Mesdames Cotton Mather, Ray Edwards, D. E. Mann and Roy S. Horton. Lynn C. Crawford, high school principal, was honor guest.

Many Unusual Features Anticipated by European Traveler

With all arrangements completed for her departure Sunday noon when the S. S. President Cleveland sails from Los Angeles harbor, Mrs. S. A. Jones, 2327 Benton Way, may give herself over to anticipation of the interest promised by her summer trip abroad.

Although the voyage through the Canal is no novelty to the Santa Ana traveler, she is anticipating it as one of the pleasantest of features, concluding with three days in New York City before sailing for England on the S. S. Manhattan. Mrs. Jones will be accompanied by Mrs. Amy Mayo of Los Angeles, who is a seasoned traveler and has visited many out-of-the-way places on the globe. The two had contemplated a 'round the world voyage earlier in the year, but canceled their plans in favor of a visit in the British Isles, the Scandinavian countries and on the continent.

The Manhattan will land at Plymouth in late June and Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Mayo will arrive in London on June 25. They will make their headquarters at a hotel near Buckingham Palace, which will afford a fine point from which to see the varied program of Jubilee celebration. On July 10, Mrs. Jones will leave with an American Express tour for northern England, and after visiting places of interest there, will sail from Newcastle on the "Jupiter" for Norway and Sweden.

Four days to be spent in Stockholm promise special interest, for the newly appointed American consul, Addison Southard, recently transferred from Ethiopia, was one of Mrs. Jones' pupils in his boyhood days in Lebanon, Ohio. His name will be familiar to readers of the National Geographic to which he has contributed articles on Ethiopia.

Holland and Belgium will be included in the tour, and the International Fair in progress in Brussels will command a definite attention. The tour will include several days in Paris before the party sails from Havre to arrive in New York City August 8. On her return across the continent, Mrs. Jones will stop in St. Cloud, Minn., for a visit with her son, Edwin Jones, arriving in Santa Ana in late August.

Calumpit Auxiliary

Joining in their monthly covered dish dinner, Calumpit camp and auxiliary, U.S.W.V., staged a pleasant affair Tuesday night in Knights of Columbus hall, with a hundred or more in attendance.

During the dinner hour a Calumpit letter was completed for Mrs. Mary Cooper, whose husband, Marriott C. Cooper, was taken to the hospital in San Francisco while they were attending the U.S.W.V. state convention last week. Each one present added words of greeting and sympathy to the letter, which was sent immediately to Mrs. Cooper. It was announced that Mr. Cooper was showing a definite improvement, so messages were cheerful and encouraging.

Cards were played for the remainder of the evening, whose various features were planned by a committee composed of Messrs. Showalter, Albert Hall, Charles Lindquist, Warren DuBois and Mrs. Rosa Bowens.

ATWOOD

Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Leadlay entertained with a family reunion Sunday. Present were Mr. and Mrs. Jackson and family, of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. Erna Leadlay, and Mrs. Anna Leadley, of Culver City.

Mr. and Mrs. L. N. Myer visited their son, Lawrence, who is confined in the San Bernardino hospital, Sunday. Young Myers was seriously injured at Lake Arrowhead last Wednesday.

Choral Club Officers Entertained In Attractive Garden

Receiving in her pretty garden at 815 North Flower street, Mrs. Fred W. Hein was hostess recently to old and new officers of Dorcas Choral club, women's singing organization which she has served as president for the past two years, under direction of Halstead McCormac.

Mrs. Ben F. Hein was called upon to conduct her first meeting as president, and final plans were made for a silver tea which the club is to give at First M.E. church Tuesday afternoon, June 4, from 2:30 to 4 o'clock.

Tables for serving refreshments at the afternoon's close were arranged with pink roses and sweet peas, rivaling the blooms in the surrounding garden. Strawberry ice, cookies and tea were served. Mrs. Hein's guests included Mesdames Earle Kent, Alice Daughter, Sadie Bell Wood, Eleanor Engleke, Rose Woodward, Ruth Yance, Thelma Hein, Muriel White, Georgia Lewis, Catherine Fox and Miss Eva Ramsey.

THE MIXING BOWL

EAT AND GROW SLIM Luncheon

Fruit Salad:
1-3 banana, sliced
1/2 peach or pear, canned
1/2 slice pineapple
1/4 cup fresh strawberries
Lettuce and diet mayonnaise
1 thin sliced toasted whole wheat bread, unbuttered
Clear tea without sugar
Calory total, 220.
Add hot muffins, rolls or graham bread and butter sandwiches to this salad, with a choice of beverages for the family luncheon.

How do you wash windows? The old way, with much rubbing, and squinting to see if the panes are streaked? Just forget all those old ways and buy yourself a little pad of a preparation made just for window-cleaning. Wet the pad and rub on the glass, wipe off, and presto! the window pane is brilliantly clean.

What I like about this method of window-cleaning is that windows stay clean three times longer than under the old way of cleaning. Just ask your grocer for this window cleaning preparation... tell him you want the little pad that must be dipped in water.

TODAY'S RECIPES

Fish Salad Service
2-3 pound uncooked salmon
1 pound crab meat
3 small heads lettuce
3 hard boiled eggs, sliced
1 bunch fresh carrots, cooked
2 cups fresh peas cooked
1/2 pint gherkinettes
1 can anchovy fillets
Tart mayonnaise

Tie the piece of salmon loosely in cloth, with a bunch of parsley, a bay leaf and 2 green onions. Cook in salted water, drain and cool. Arrange the lettuce heart leaves on a chilled platter, with a bed of shredded lettuce. Heap flaked salmon and crab meat on lettuce bed and garnish edges with cubed cooked carrots, cooked green peas, tiny pickles and sliced egg. Omit the anchovy fillets if you wish, if not, snip up and strewn over fish. Mask with chilled tart mayonnaise and serve with hot rolls.

This luscious salad is the main dish for supper or luncheon. The quantities given serve 8-10 people.

Bread Griddle Cakes

2 cups milk
1 cup fine stale bread crumbs
1 cup flour
1 tablespoon melted butter
1/2 teaspoon baking powder sifted with flour
1 teaspoon salt
2 eggs, whites beaten separately
Soak crumbs in milk, add melted butter and whip in flour sifted with salt and baking powder. Whip in unbeaten egg yolks and fold in stiffly whipped whites. Bake in thin cakes on a well oiled hot griddle and serve with hot syrup or jam.

Griddle cakes like this make a grand luncheon for hungry school children. For convenience, however, the batter might be baked at table on the waffle iron. Approximate calory values of unbaked batter are 1400. Roughly estimated, a small cake after baking, has a value of 75 calories.

Saturday: Sour Cream Pie and a fluffy fruit dessert, planned to use up canned fruit you won't care to carry over for another year.

ANN MEREDITH.

ORANGE PERSONALS

ORANGE, May 31.—Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Shaw, Mrs. William Meant and Mrs. Carl B. Stover were recent luncheon guests of Mrs. William McLaughlin at her home in Anaheim.

Woe Golly come, for goodness sake, I never saw a rubber lake, until we bounced on this one. Everyone was fooled, I guess.

"Why, I felt that we would get all of our clothes just soaking wet. I'm glad that didn't happen, 'cause it might have spoiled my dress."

"Let's bounce around a little while," exclaimed brave Scouty, with a smile. "I'm going to bounce real hard and turn a somersault or two."

He flopped upon his back and then whirled right up to his feet again. "That's pretty clever," Duncy cried, "but I can do it, too."

"I'll get a vine, and then jump rope. I'll be a thrilling stunt, I hope." And then the others watched him, and they soon began to roar.

It didn't work out very fine. He got all tangled in the vine. "Well,

I give up," sighed Duncy. "I won't try that any more."

Then one real kind gnome shouted, "Say, I'll bring another treat today. How would you like to meet the rubber man who built this place?"

"We all would," answered Windy. "Gee, he ought to be a sight to see. I'll bet he has a funny body and a real fat face."

The Tynmies soon found he was right. The rubber man walked into sight, and shouted, "Hi, there, Tynmies. I'll bet you'll laugh at me."

"I'm made of rubber and I'm fat. The air in me makes me like that. However, I don't mind my size. I'm happy as can be."

"I think I'll give you tots some fun." And, "twas no sooner said than done. The rubber man had tubes that looked like coils of liverwurst.

He started blowing them up high, and Golly shouted, "Me, oh my! Don't blow so hard, or I am sure those funny tubes will burst."

FIND PICTURE OF ORIGINAL G. OF C. BOARD

Thirty-eight years ago a new organization was formed in Santa Ana—the Orange County Chamber of Commerce. Today, 38 years later, Secretary Howard I. Wood of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, dug up an old picture of the first board of directors of the Orange County Chamber of Commerce, parent organization of the local chamber.

But one member of that first board of directors is known to be living, and that is E. B. Smith, retired Santa Ana jeweler. All the rest of the nine members of the board are dead, with the possible exception of C. F. Brayton. It is not known what happened to Brayton, or if he is living or not.

Members of that early board of directors included E. A. White, William F. Lutz, George A. Edgar, D. H. Thomas, C. E. Barker, George Minter and J. C. Joplin—all names which are familiar to old timers here.

The directors of the early chamber organization met in the old city hall. Smith recalled today, where the city gave the then young organization a room of its own for its deliberations. Smith came to Santa Ana in 1887 and was in business here until 1927, when he sold his jewelry store to R. H. Ewert. He served on the board of directors for three years.

Aims and ambitions of that pioneer group were essentially the same as the objectives of the chamber of commerce now—to promote industry and business and to make this the most attractive city and county in the nation.

That the work of that old time group has been carried forward in the same spirit is demonstrated by the great strides made in agriculture, commerce, industry and business in this city and county during the years gone by.

Two Held After Bogus Bills Given Service Station

FULLERTON, May 31.—Arrested on suspicion after the Leo Martin service station had accepted two counterfeit $10 bills, Marshall Ritchie, 30, formerly of Fullerton, and Clarence Hough, of La Habra, are being held by federal authorities in Los Angeles.

According to a report at the Fullerton police station, the accused men purchased gasoline and a fan belt with the bills. The bills were declared counterfeit when they were turned in to a local bank.

FIVE CHILDREN DIE AS STOVE EXPLODES

LONG BEACH, One, May 31.—(UP)—Five children were suffocated today when a gas stove in the house in which they lived exploded, turning the building into a pyre. Their parents and one child escaped.

Mr. and Mrs. John Scott, the parents, and Douglas Scott, 3, escaped when the father broke the glass in a second story window, lowered his wife to the ground, and then jumped to safety. Flames prevented his repeated efforts to re-enter.

One child, found dead a few feet from the front door, had apparently attempted to crawl to safety. The other four, trapped in the upper story, were suffocated.

LEGISLATORS TO INVESTIGATE GOLD CARD CASE

State Senator N. T. Edwards and Speaker Edward Ted Craig, of the state assembly, two of the three Orange county representatives in the state legislature, today gave Justice K. E. Morrison of Santa Ana assurance that they will investigate the gold courtesy card practice of Chief E. Raymond Cato of the California Highway Patrol.

In letters to the local justice, Edwards and Craig expressed their purpose of going into the matter thoroughly.

"I want you to know that I am against any favoritism," Speaker Craig added, in his communication.

Justice Morrison had called attention of Governor Merriam and the three Orange county representatives, including Assemblyman James B. Utt, of Tustin, to the case of James Arnold, sentenced to five days in jail here on a speeding charge. Justice Morrison had taken from Arnold one of the gold courtesy cards issued by Chief Cato to his special friends, which cards are reputed to grant their holders immunity from traffic law enforcement.

Superior Judge James L. Allen subsequently released Arnold on a writ of habeas corpus, holding that the speeding complaint against him did not state a public offense, and that therefore Justice Morrison did not have jurisdiction in the case. The writ was granted under authority of a recent appellate court decision holding that there is no specified speed limit in the state and that a mere speeding charge is not sufficient to state an offense, unless some form of reckless driving also is charged.

OFFICIALS INVITED TO VISIT HARBOR

Bob Fernandez, chairman of the inter-community relations committee of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, today extended an invitation which came from the city of Long Beach, to all city and county officers in Orange county to be in attendance on a two-hour boat trip of inspection of the Long Beach and Los Angeles harbors in connection with Foreign Trades Week activities.

At the suggestion of Long Beach city officials, next Tuesday has been made an official Orange county day of inspection. The Orange county group was asked to meet in Long Beach, at the Navy Landing. There will be plenty of free parking space. There is no charge for the trip. Competent guides will be aboard to point out interesting things in connection with foreign trade.

G. A. R. COMMANDER THANKS PUBLIC

He particularly thanked those persons who donated flowers which were used to decorate the graves of the soldier dead. Comrade J. A. Wilkes of the G. A. R. post was among the group of Civil war veterans that took part in the exercises.

THE BANKING BILL

The Administration's demand for greater public control in the American economic system is plainly voiced in the banking act of 1935, which is now the center of interest in Congress as one of the President's "must legislation" measures.

The positions taken by Mr. Roosevelt and Marriner S. Eccles, governor of the Federal Reserve board, are that "we can't afford to trust private bankers any more with the management of our national credit and financial policies." On the other hand, the bankers contend that "we can't afford to trust the politicians."

The bill already has been passed by the house, probably on the theory that it is safer to trust a governmental agency representing and accountable to the people, than the bankers, representing and accountable only to themselves. It is now being considered by the senate banking committee together with certain amendments urged by Eccles, which it probably will adopt.

The measure takes a definite step toward the central bank idea, such as that operating in England and Canada, in its proposal to remove control of open market operations from the twelve Federal Reserve bank governors who represent private bankers, and give it—with power to initiate and enforce—to the Federal Reserve board appointed by the President, which now has only a veto power over those operations.

The open market operations referred to are those in which the twelve regional Federal Reserve banks deal in government bonds with the thousands of member banks, purchases by the reserve banks increasing bank reserves, providing member banks with more funds, and sale to member banks decreasing their reserves.

The theory is that credit expands when reserves are increased and recovery follows whenever business is willing to borrow, while if a dangerous speculative boom threatens, regional banks can sell bonds to member banks in order to withdraw funds from the market.

Provisions of the bill also give the Federal Reserve board power to make credit either more or less expensive, through changing the interest rate charged by Federal Reserve banks for loans to member banks, which in turn controls the rate charged by the latter to their customers, or more or less plentiful by changing reserve requirements.

Granting such control to a presidentially-appointed board is opposed, among others, by Senator Carter Glass, the American Bankers' association, the United States Chamber of Commerce and the American Liberty league.

The Bankers' association urges instead that an open market committee be created of a five-man Federal Reserve board plus four rotating Federal Reserve bank governors. This is presumably on the theory that the banker members could work comfortably with at least one of the board members and thus gain control.

Bankers also complain that the government is given the power to compel bankers to buy its bonds whether or not they deem it guilty of unsound financing, presenting an issue as to whether the government should have a check on the bankers or vice versa.

Other provisions of this piece of "must" administration legislation include establishment of permanent insurance of bank deposits up to $5000; power for the Federal Reserve board to approve long term loans on real estate up to sixty per cent of its value; raising salaries of board members from $12,000 to $15,000; and under an Eccles proposal designed to increase the independence of the board, pensions for board members.

This legislation undoubtedly will give the President much greater power over banking.

PRICE CUTTING AND THE NRA

The unrestrained joy, with which industrial leaders quite generally hailed the passing of the NRA, has now given way to a feeling of uncertainty and anxiety concerning the immediate future of business.

Many business leaders are attempting to hold their industry in line and have the individual units voluntarily adhere to their code agreements. The Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce has joined the parade and appealed to businessmen generally not to cut wages or to lengthen the hours of labor.

The only altruism about these appeals is that they hope to prevent the desperate price cutting warfare that finally stopped almost all business in March of 1933.

So long as the supreme court had not ruled the NRA unconstitutional, the impression that prevailed was that everybody was just about "sick and tired" of the whole NRA program. Many business men thought it would be nice to be free to do just about as they pleased.

The situation reminds us of a small child who asked Santa Claus for a dog, and when she received a Saint Bernard as a gift, promptly objected to receiving such a large dog. Many business men are inclined to feel that they received too much freedom.

Oil, mining, and textile stocks have been selling for less because these industries, which can supply far more goods than they can sell, fear that their industries may be forced to operate without profit due to price-cutting warfare.

Profits have been maintained in these industries largely because the codes under which they operated forbade destructive price cutting. With these restrictions removed, it is now a question of how much the strongest are willing to lose in their effort to destroy the business of the weaker units.

In the dressmaking industry the fear is expressed that "sweat-shop" conditions and wage reductions may soon return. The tendency is that the factory with the lowest wage scale will in the end force the factory with the higher wage scale to lower that scale in order to meet the selling prices of the competitor.

In the coal mining industry, where potential production far exceeds the demands of the trade, the fear is expressed by mine union leaders that such mines as are operating will attempt to reduce wages, in fact will be forced to reduce wages in many cases in order to meet competition.

The fears that now grip many sections of American business may however prove to be only a severe case of "nerves." With a strong banking system now in control of the finances of this country, the forced liquidation, or the selling of goods at any price to meet the pressing demands of the bankers, may not develop.

The 4,880 million relief program is definitely inflationary in its ultimate effect and this alone will tend to re-establish sagging price levels. In any case, the price-cutting days of 1932 are scarcely likely to be repeated.

However, it was necessary for the NRA to die in order to count its friends, and proves in death a more human institution than it would have been credited with being in the full bloom of life.

PARTISANSHIP AND THE PRESIDENT

Some years ago, a group of men was waiting at a junction point for a connecting train. It was when Grover Cleveland was President. Most of them were opposed to the President, and they were roundly abusing him and questioning his motives.

One of the group took little part in the discussion for a time. Everybody seemed to fall in with the criticism. Finally, this solitary individual remarked, "If you fellows are so wise, it is d— strange that some of you are not in the White House instead of sitting here spitting in this sawdust box."

The incident recurs to memory in the light of certain remarks made to the Boston Chamber of Commerce recently by Walter Lippmann. The speech was much along the line of that made by Chairman Reynolds of the Chase bank at the last meeting of the American Bankers' association.

Mr. Lippmann asked his auditors to assume what they would do were they in the White House in the present emergency. He asked them how many of them, were they in the White House, could give assurance when congress would adjourn.

He inquired how many of them could give assurance that congress would postpone action on major reform measures until revival of business has set in. The popular feeling behind many of the reform measures now before congress would certainly become issues in the next presidential campaign if they were not acted upon. And the results would certainly be very problematic, to say the least, in that campaign.

Mr. Lippmann warned these business men that they were jeopardizing their best interests seriously in their demands on the President. Not only might the President be powerless against a thwarted congress, but any attempt to thwart the congress might create a much greater uncertainty in business, he said.

Mr. Roosevelt is to be the only possible President for the next 12 months, says Mr. Lippmann. It is to be presumed that he understands the temper of the congress and the American people better than do the gentlemen of the chamber of commerce.

And while he would not say that all criticism should be withheld, he warned his listeners against too sharply intruding their partisanship into their criticism. Even did the President share all their views, if he insisted upon their policies, he would soon find himself in the position in which President Hoover found himself during his term.

This to us seems to be wholesome advice. The desires of the people are not to be trifled with or shunted aside. The members of the national chamber of commerce may yet discover that their best friend in this time of stress and storm is the man they are so sharply criticizing.

Heroes in Cabs

Christian Science Monitor

Within the next two or three weeks, seventy taxi drivers in New York City will be summoned to police headquarters on charges of courageous, heroic and meritorious acts. There they will be presented to Lewis J. Valentine, police commissioner, who will pin upon each a green-and-gold breast bar.

The recipients of this "Distinguished Service Order" will further receive a special license card crossed by a band of gold and inscribed "Commendation for Public Service."

Commissioner Valentine gives Mayor F. H. LaGuardia credit for this pleasant policy of conferring public recognition for good deeds on a class of men rather more accustomed to disparagement than diplomas. Constantly confronted with instances of disinterested service and valiant assistance to the police on the part of taxi drivers, the Mayor and the commissioner reflected that while there existed plenty of provisions for discipline, none were made for commendation.

Adventure, like art, breaks out in unsuspected places. To read the citations of the seventy awarded drivers is to gain the conviction that the average day of those crusaders up and down the city's streets includes thrills unguessed by the ordinary citizen. Running a cab against the parapet of a bridge to prevent someone jumping into the East River; ignoring the guns of two bandits pressed in his side one driver stalled his cab, thus enabling a policeman to catch them. Just a part of the day's work, that's all.

Lord Chesterfield would perhaps have found a Manhattan cabman's manners "leaving to desire," as they say in France; his driving may be furious like unto that of Jehu, son of Nimshi. Yet more than one maiden aunt from out of town who thought her nephew lived "somewhere on Murray Hill" has blessed the driver for his perseverance in tracking down the address. It is good that the taxi man's qualities of kindness and courage are to be outwardly indicated by the green-and-gold breast bar of merit.

NOSE OUT OF JOINT

(A Soliloquy)

I don't do anything that's wrong,
I'm as good as I can be.
But since that baby came along
They got no use for me.
I wasn't even romp and play
With my new brindled pup
For if I do my parents say:
"Don't wake dear baby up.
You know the darling little chap
Has got to have his morning nap."

He ain't so much, that baby ain't,
You ought to hear him bawl,
But they believe that he's a saint
And I'm no good at all.
I think I'll go away from here
And take along my cat;
They say that he's a little dear,
And I'm a little brat.
And though he hollers day and night
They think, of course, that that's all right.

But never mind, when I'm a man
And not a tiny tot,
I'll be as naughty as I can,
And that's an awful lot.
As soon as he is big enough
I'll punch him in the eye
And do a lot of other stuff
That makes young babies cry.
And then my parents will be sad
To think they treated me so bad.

Thoughts On Modern Life

BY GLENN FRANK

JANE ADDAMS IS DEAD!

Jane Addams is dead!

I last talked with her as I sat beside her in a box listening to the debates of the 1932 National Democratic Convention in Chicago.

Then as always she was the stalwart spirit compounded of sweetness and strength.

The greatest gift she gave to her time was not what she wrote or what she said or even what she did in the development of Hull House.

The greatest gift she gave to her time was herself.

Her mind was disciplined by a God-given sense of reality; sheer sentimentalism had no place in her thinking or in her action; she needed too much from the men and women and children of the city streets.

In analysis of social situations her mental processes could be as cold as a statistician's calculations.

In attack upon social evils her spirit could flame with prophetic fire.

She wanted the last of the least privileged to have an environment that would not bruise and break human spirit.

She hated injustice.
She gave the best that was in her to the war against war.

This great and good woman was at times listed by our professional latter-day witch burners as a dangerous radical; her radicism consisted in testing the worth of human institutions and human practices by what they did or failed to do to light and to liberate the lives of men.

In this Jane Addams was but following the trail that Jesus of Nazareth left across the centuries.

Our Children

By

WATER SPORTS

The season for water sports is opening. A word of reminder is in order in every school, home and camp in the land. Every year we lose children by drowning accidents that could have been avoided by right supervision and instruction.

Homemade boats and rafts are a source of danger. Few children can build a safe raft or boat. Should they make such a contraption it should not be taken near water until some older and experienced person has tested it.

Children who have had no training take boats without permission and endanger their lives.
Teach them not to touch a boat, not to go on the water, until they have been proved fit, by tests, to man a boat.

No child ought to take out a boat unless he knows how to swim, how to manage a leaky or upturned boat, how to use it as a life saver. This means he is a good swimmer, and has had training in getting in and out of a boat in water deep enough for swimming.

A canoe is not used until the child can swim very well, and can tip his canoe over and climb back into it with ease. He must never take a canoe out without permission, so that someone is watching. Nor is he to take a passenger with him.

All these precautions are taken in relation to beginners, but the tested waterman must be warned, tested again, and supervised until they have been proved responsible.

So many of them think they can take privileges with the water.
Nobody should feel that way about it. Water has a mysterious and awful power. Even the most skilled boatman and swimmer should respect that power. It is not brave to laugh at it and defy it. Real seamen never do. The more experienced they are the more reverence they have for the sea and its power. Boys and girls might take on a little of the respect and reverence in relation to the pools, the rivers and lakes
they play in during the summer.

We would not want to frighten children about the water. We can train them to be intelligent about it, and so be cautious, which is a different attitude from fear. We often create fear in children by trying to make them brave.
Force breeds fear, and ought never to be used in association with water sports.

When a child refuses to go into the water, have him put on his bathing suit and play on the beach, watching the others. Invite him now and then to come along, but if he shakes his head and clinks to his rock on shore, go you way cheerfully. Water has great fascination for a child, and by and by, if he is ignored instead of forced, he will find his way to it. First he will dabble a toe, then a foot goes in. Two feet; up to the knees. He gallops along the shore, and the next thing he knows he is learning to swim.

Swimming is one of the best of all exercises for boys and girls.
Every child should learn for the good it does his growth and his health, for the feeling of power it gives him, for the fun he gets, and for his own life's sake. Whenever I see a girl in the pool now
I am thrice thankful for I remember the one who swam from the Morro Castle, holding up two other frightened half drowned women, until she got them to the shore. One never knows where the waters will overtake him and it is well to be ready for them if and when they come.
